Providing access to web conferences Universität via ILIAS in accordance with data protection requirements

Present data protection information and declarations of consent along with links to web conferences via ILIAS

Compiled by the ILIAS team at the University of Konstanz As of: 30.10.2020

How to combine consent to data protection information with access to web conferences:

Areas of application:

Interactive web conferences using cameras and microphones that are not recorded

Objectives:

- Ensuring that participants in web conferences receive data protection information before joining web conferences and that they give their implicit consent by joining via a link presented in the same location as this information
- Enabling easy access to web conferences, cutting out the need to send emails with links

Steps:

- Add a "content page" item to the ILIAS course that displays the declaration of consent and links to the data protection information
- The link to the respective web conferencing service will be posted below the declaration of consent. This ensures that both the information and access are provided to course participants

1. Download and edit the template data protection information

1. Download the template data protection information and declaration of consent (German and English) from: https://www.uni- konstanz.de/justiziariat/datenschutzrecht-in-der- online-lehre/

Use a word processing program to open the file and edit it.
